Short summary

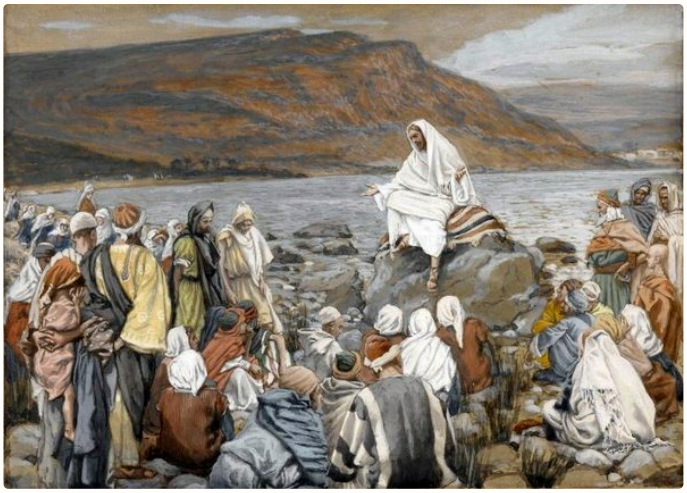

- The teacher reads Matthew 13:1-23, the start of Jesus' third discourse, the parables of the kingdom. Jesus tells the parable of the sower from a boat (13:3-9), explains why He speaks in parables (13:10-17), and explains the seed and the soils (13:18-23).
- A parable is a story whose important characters illustrate a relevant lesson, felt through comparison. Jewish parables often opened with the formula 'To what may it be compared? It is like…', and Jesus does the same in 11:16. Quoting T. F. Torrance, the video says a parable throws the hearer into a 'crisis of decision,' yet its veiled form gives room and time to decide. We read the parable, and the parable reads us.
- Jesus quotes Isaiah 6:9-10. The crowds often understood the stories (Mark 12:12); they would not hear, and in Hebrew to hear is to obey. Four questions open any parable: What is the occasion? Who are the important characters? What do they say? What happens at the end?
- The video adds four levels of Jewish interpretation, PaRDeS: peshat (the plain sense), remez (a hint back to the Old Testament), derash (a searched-out association, as Matthew 2:15 with Hosea 11:1), and sod (a secret only God reveals, as with Peter in 16:17).
- Applied to the sower: the occasion is Jesus being challenged about His identity; the soils are the characters; the end is the good soil that hears, understands and bears fruit. So the question is not 'Am I the sower?' but 'Which soil am I?' The remez is 'understand with the heart': incline your heart to discernment (Proverbs 2:1-6; Psalm 119).

- The lesson for the original audience: those who bear fruit for God's kingdom only do so as they continue to incline their heart to God's word.

Four questions for any parable

The teacher's tool: ask (1) What is the occasion? (2) Who are the important characters? (3) What do they say? (4) What happens at the end, often an unexpected twist? Then look for the remez that sends you back to the Old Testament.

Why Jesus speaks in parables

What a parable is, a crisis of decision, Isaiah 6, and four questions.

MATTHEW 13:1-9

The sower went out to sow

MATTHEW 13:3-9 (LSB) PARABLE

“And He spoke many things to them in parables, saying, “Behold, the sower went out to sow; and as he sowed, some seeds fell beside the road, and the birds came and ate them up. And others fell on the rocky places, where they did not have much soil; and immediately they sprang up, because they had no depth of soil. But when the sun had risen, they were scorched; and because they had no root, they withered away. And others fell among the thorns, and the thorns came up and choked them out. And others fell on the good soil and were yielding a crop, some a hundredfold, some sixty, and some thirty. He who has ears, let him hear.””

FROM THE VIDEO Matthew 5-7 was the Sermon on the Mount; Matthew 10 the mission discourse. Chapter 13 is the parabolic discourse, teaching the disciples about the nature of the kingdom.

FROM THE VIDEO A parable is a story where the important characters illustrate a relevant lesson. Ancient Jewish parables often began, 'To what may it be compared? It is like...', as Jesus does in 11:16. Matthew 11:16

WHY NOT JUST SAY IT?

A crisis of decision

FROM THE VIDEO Quoting the Scottish theologian T. F. Torrance: the kingdom 'throws a man into the crisis of decision,' and yet by its veiled form the word 'holds a man at arms length away in order to give him room and time for personal decision.'

FROM THE VIDEO A parable invites you to step inside the story, find where you fit, and decide whether to adopt its lesson. We read the parable, and the parable reads us back.

BACKGROUND Nathan's parable to David works the same way: 'You are the man!' (2 Samuel 12:7). 2 Samuel 12:1-7

MATTHEW 13:10-15 AND ISAIAH 6

Hearing, they do not hear

ISAIAH · ISAIAH 6:10

“Render the hearts of this people insensitive, / Their ears dull, / And their eyes dim, / Lest they see with their eyes, / And hear with their ears, / And understand with their hearts, / And return and be healed.””

JESUS · MATTHEW 13:13

“Therefore I speak to them in parables; because while seeing they do not see, and while hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand.”

FROM THE VIDEO Isaiah had just seen the Lord on His throne, and a seraph touched his lips to take away his guilt (Isaiah 6:1-7). Then God sent him to call out Israel's unwillingness to understand with the heart and turn. Isaiah 6:1-7

FROM THE VIDEO The crowds often understood the stories. In Mark 12 the leaders 'understood that He spoke the parable against them' (Mark 12:12); they just would not hear. In Hebrew, to hear is to obey. Mark 12:12

BACKGROUND The Shema begins with this word: 'Hear, O Israel!' (Deuteronomy 6:4). Deuteronomy 6:4

HOW TO READ A PARABLE

Four questions

FROM THE VIDEO 1. What is the occasion? Why is Jesus telling this story; what is He responding to?

FROM THE VIDEO 2. Who are the important characters? Usually three, sometimes two, occasionally one. 3. What do they say out loud?

FROM THE VIDEO 4. What happens at the end? Often an unexpected twist that grabs the listener so they understand and respond.

Four levels of interpretation

Peshat, remez, derash and sod, as the video explains them.

PESHAT

The plain sense

FROM THE VIDEO Peshat means simple: the surface meaning, the easiest to see. Western churches know it well, because pastors teach the plain sense of the passage every Sunday. It is fundamental, and the other levels never undermine it.

FROM THE VIDEO The video calls the four levels PaRDeS, an acronym (the captions hear 'partardes'): peshat, remez, derash, sod.

REMEZ

A hint to the Tanakh

FROM THE VIDEO Remez means hint: a veiled allusion that sends you back to the Old Testament. Rabbis buried a remez like treasure, so students would go back and find the deeper framework. The journey was meant to take time.

FROM THE VIDEO In the sower, the remez is 'understand with the heart,' which runs through Proverbs 2 and Psalm 119.

◆ Factbook: Tanakh ◆ Factbook: Rabbi

DERASH

Search out the connection

HOSEA · HOSEA 11:1

"When Israel was a youth I loved him, / And out of Egypt I called My son."

MATTHEW · MATTHEW 2:15

"And he remained there until the death of Herod, in order that what had been spoken by the Lord through the prophet would be fulfilled, saying, "Out of Egypt I called My Son.""

FROM THE VIDEO Derash means inquire or search: a meaningful association with an earlier passage, respecting the context of each, to draw out a lesson. Hosea 11:1 is about Israel, yet Matthew sees a real link between God's words and Joseph's actions.

FROM THE VIDEO Remez hints at treasure elsewhere; derash builds a lesson from it. Jesus does this throughout His parables.

◆ Factbook: Hosea (the prophet) ◆ Factbook: Egypt

SOD

A secret God reveals

MATTHEW 16:17 (LSB)

SECRET

“And Jesus answered and said to him, “Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah, because flesh and blood did not reveal this to you, but My Father who is in heaven.”

FROM THE VIDEO Sod means secret: understanding only God can give, which cannot be learned by rote. When Peter confesses Jesus as the Christ, Jesus says the Father revealed it.

FROM THE VIDEO This is not about becoming Judaizers or chasing esoteric doctrines. It is about having ears to hear: respecting the Jewish way Jesus taught and His students learned.

Which soil am I?

The four questions applied to the sower, and the remez: incline your heart.

QUESTION 1

The occasion

FROM THE VIDEO Jesus had been challenged about His identity by John's disciples, the scribes and Pharisees, and others. He denounced the towns that rejected Him and corrected false expectations. 'On that day' (13:1) He began the parables, still in a corrective setting.

Matthew 11:2-6 | Matthew 12:38

◆ Factbook: John the Baptist

MATTHEW 13:18-22

The soils are the characters

MATTHEW 13:19-22 (LSB)

WHICH SOIL?

“When anyone hears the word of the kingdom and does not understand it, the evil one comes and snatches away what has been sown in his heart. This is the one on whom seed was sown beside the road. And the one on whom seed was sown on the rocky places, this is the man who hears the word and immediately receives it with joy; yet he has no root in himself, but is only temporary, and when affliction or persecution arises because of the word, immediately he falls away. And the one on whom seed was sown among the thorns, this is the one who hears the word, and the worry of the world and the deceitfulness of wealth choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful.”

FROM THE VIDEO The sower is the setup, not the focus. 'The one on whom seed was sown... this is the one': the soils are the characters. They do not speak; they act out how seed does or does not produce grain.

FROM THE VIDEO So the parable is not mainly a call to see yourself as the sower spreading seed. The question is: which soil am I?

The good soil

🌾 MATTHEW 13:23 (LSB)

FRUIT

“And the one on whom seed was sown on the good soil, this is the man who hears the word and understands it; who indeed bears fruit and brings forth, some a hundredfold, some sixty, and some thirty.””

FROM THE VIDEO The end rests with the good soil, the one who hears and understands, and bears fruit. The unusual way Jesus counts the yield is, the video says, worth exploring on your own.

Incline your heart

PSALMIST · PSALMS 119:34

“Cause me to understand, that I may observe Your law / And keep it with all my heart.”

❤️ PROVERBS 2:1-6 (LSB)

REMEZ

“My son, if you will receive my words / And treasure my commandments within you, / To make your ear pay attention to wisdom, / Incline your heart to discernment; / For if you call out for understanding, / Give your voice for discernment; / If you seek her as silver / And search for her as for hidden treasures; / Then you will understand the fear of Yahweh / And find the knowledge of God. / For Yahweh gives wisdom; / From His mouth come knowledge and discernment.”

FROM THE VIDEO Following Reyburn and Fry, 'incline your heart' is a Hebrew idiom meaning commit yourself: work hard to understand. The heart is not the seat of emotions but of intellect and will, the center of the whole person.

FROM THE VIDEO Had the people committed themselves to understand, gone back to the word like the Bereans (Acts 17:11), they would have recognized their Messiah. There were no surprises in Jesus' teaching. Acts 17:11

Historical and cultural background

ESTABLISHED Facts most interpreters agree on

Sowing in Galilee

Farmers scattered seed by hand, often before plowing it in. Paths ran through fields, limestone lay close under thin soil in places, and thorn plants grew at the edges, so some seed was always lost.

A good harvest

Ancient yields were usually modest; a hundredfold was a mark of God's blessing, as for Isaac (Genesis 26:12). Jesus' numbers stress how abundant the good soil's fruit is.

Jewish parables

Rabbinic literature contains many parables (meshalim), often introduced with 'To what may the matter be compared? To a king who...'. Most of the written examples are later than Jesus, but the form is old: compare Nathan's parable in 2 Samuel 12.

PaRDeS

The four-level scheme and the acronym PaRDeS appear in medieval Jewish writings (13th century). The methods behind peshat and derash, and the use of allusion, are much older, and the video uses the four levels as a helpful lens.

SOURCED Early witnesses

> For by seed here He means His doctrine, and by land, the souls of men, and by the sower, Himself.
> John Chrysostom, c. AD 390. Homilies on Matthew 44, on 13:3. Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, series 1, vol. 10 (public domain).

> Not through the sower, but through the ground that received it; that is, the soul that did not hearken.
> John Chrysostom, c. AD 390. Homilies on Matthew 44, on 13:4-8. NPNF 1.10 (public domain).

> For if it had not been His will that they should hear and be saved, He ought to have been silent, not to have spoken in parables; but now by this very thing He stirs them up, even by speaking under a veil.
> John Chrysostom, c. AD 390. Homilies on Matthew 45, on 13:13. NPNF 1.10 (public domain).

DEBATED Where scholars differ

Do parables hide or reveal?

Both, says 13:11-13: they reveal to those who want to hear and hide from those who refuse. Chrysostom: by 'speaking under a veil' Jesus stirs them up. Others stress God's judgment in the hiding, as in Isaiah 6.

Is the sower us?

The video: the soils are the focus, so ask 'Which soil am I?' Jesus' later explanation names the sower of good seed as the Son of Man (13:37), and many preachers also draw a lesson for those who share the word.

Did first-century rabbis use PaRDeS?

The acronym is medieval. Many scholars still find related moves in the New Testament: plain reading, allusion (remez), and searched-out application (derash, compare the Qumran pesharim).

CAREFUL READING

Small slips in the video

Small slips worth knowing (offered gently; the video's main points stand):

- The video says the four levels were 'in the first century.' The acronym PaRDeS and the four-level scheme come from medieval Jewish writers (13th century); the underlying methods are older, so it is a helpful lens rather than a first-century system.
- Matthew 13:14-15 follows the Greek Septuagint of Isaiah 6:9-10 ('the heart of this people has become dull'), while the Hebrew, as in the LSB, is a command: 'Render the hearts of this people insensitive.'
- The quotations of T. F. Torrance and of Reyburn and Fry are given as the video reads them; we could not check them against the books.
- The video reads Proverbs 2:2 as 'inclining your heart to understanding'; the LSB has 'Incline your heart to discernment.'
- The captions write 'partardes' for PaRDeS, 'pashhat' for peshat, 'Rome' for remez, 'dash' for derash, 'Raburn' for Reyburn, and 'coin and Greek' for Koine Greek.

Application

FROM THE VIDEO

The lesson for the original audience: those who bear fruit for God's kingdom only do so as they continue to incline their heart to God's word. Jesus told this parable among people who refused to acknowledge His identity. They rejected Him because they would not let go of their expectations of what God and His Messiah would do; too proud to believe their reading of God's word was wrong, they would not go back to the Tanakh with an open mind. Had they committed themselves to understand, they would have seen that there were no surprises in Jesus' teaching: He came to fulfill what the Old Testament always taught. Inclining the heart leads a person through repentance and acceptance of the gospel, and further into obeying everything Jesus taught, the word of the kingdom, including the Sermon on the Mount and the Great Commission. It is a constant inclining, a daily discipline of returning to God's word with an open mind, ready for God to do things outside our expectations.

STUDY NOTE (ADDED)

this week, read Proverbs 2:1-6 each morning, then read one parable in Matthew 13 and walk it through the four questions. Write down one place where the parable 'read you back.'
